Br. Henry's "Forever Learning" Gourmet Cooking Class

Br. Henry Skitzki, C.S.C. (pictured second from left) forte during his years in the Holy Cross Brothers has undoubtedly been his professional skill as a chef. Now retired at Holy Cross Village at Notre Dame, brother continues using his cooking skills. This semester he is conducting a five-session, "Hands on Gourmet Cooking Class" for the Forever Learning Institute of South Bend. He is one of a number of Brothers of Holy Cross teaching there this semester. Pictured is Brother Henry, in his apartment at Riverside Place in Holy Cross Village teaching seven of his students Vietnamese cuisine. The students under the careful eye of Br. Henry both cook and eat their weekly class project.

Br. Henry has filled food service positions over the past 43 years in Akron, Oh., Gates Mills, Oh., Chatsworth, Calif., and Notre Dame, Ind. (at Moreau Seminary, Columba Hall, Saint Mary's College, and Dujarie House). Br. Henry's dedication to attractive, appropriate and economical food service, whether in its administrative or practical aspects, has given him a reputation for professionalism, creativity and excellence. He has exercised a pastoral role in helping some Vietnamese boat persons successfully acclimate to life in the U.S. over a period of years.
